ARTICLE VI.D
PREPARATION OF BALLOTS AND POST ELECTION PROCEDURES

SECTION 1. Regular election of Officers and Minneapolis RLF delegates shall be by referendum vote. The double envelope system shall be used for all regular Branch 9 elections. The procedures for conducting this type of election are described here. Each member eligible to vote should receive the following:

1) One (1) notice of election with instructions, 2) One (1) unmarked ballot, 3) One (1) small envelope, either unmarked or marked "Ballot Envelope", 4) One (1) larger stamped envelope with space for the member's printed full name and his/her signature and address in the upper left corner. The four (4) items are placed in the cover envelope bearing the member's name and last known address. This is put under the custody of the election officials who deposit the mail in a post office. The mail receiving point for returned ballots should be selected in advance by the election officials. This may be a post office box or other mutually agreed upon location, such as the Union's accounting firm, etc.

SECTION 2. The printer shall be instructed to certify as to the exact number of ballots printed and delivered. Arrangements shall be made with the Post Office to have ballots and notices returned to the Union if the mail is undeliverable.

SECTION 3. Election officials shall collect the ballots from the Post Office or other mail receiving point on the scheduled day in the presence of the candidates or their observers. Authorities at the Post Office or other mail receiving point should be instructed that ballots are not to be released from their custody before the scheduled time. If the cut-off date for returning marked ballots is based on a requirement that ballots must be "received" at the mail receiving point as of a certain time, the ballots should be picked up at that time. If the cut-off date is based on the "postmarked" date, they should be picked up several days after the cut-off for posting letters to allow for transportation and delivery to the mail receiving point. Ballots should be counted promptly thereafter. Before counting the ballots, the election officials shall do the following: A.) Check the return envelope to see that the name (of the person voting) in the upper left corner corresponds with the name on the eligibility list. B.) Open the return addressed envelope and remove the ballot envelopes, keeping the return addressed envelopes as an election record. C.) Open the ballot envelopes and stack ballots for counting purposes, for example in lots of 20, 25, or 50. D.) Count the ballots and enter results on a tally sheet, stopping at the end of each lot counted to check the accuracy of the tally against the number of ballots in each lot. E.) If verification of the accuracy of the count is desired when the count is completed, this may be indicated by the initials or signature of the observers on the tally sheets, which are to be preserved as election records. During the counting of ballots, only election officials should handle the ballots. All ballots counted and uncounted should be kept in view of the observers at all times until the count is completed.
